A Guide for Tutor Coordinators

The online tutor training modules are listed below. Each module will take approximately 1 hour to complete and can be accessed at any time and as often as needed in the PD Portal (<https://pdportal.paadulthoodresources.org>).

- ▶ Module 1: Tutoring Routines

TIPS FOR USING THE TUTOR TRAINING MODULES

Tutor coordinators will work with each volunteer tutor to assess and identify which of the eight online tutor training modules the volunteer tutor will register for. There are several factors for tutor coordinators and volunteers to consider when looking at options for appropriate ongoing professional development opportunities. When planning a professional development activity, a topic would be chosen based on identified learner needs. For example, the Preparing Students for the High School Equivalency Exams module may be helpful for a tutor who will be working with learners preparing for the GED® or HiSET® exams. This connection to learner needs will ensure relevancy to both the volunteer and the learner and will maintain volunteer interest. There needs to be a clear purpose for participating in the professional development opportunity and tutors need to have a plan for implementing new knowledge.

The on-demand online tutor modules may be taken individually by classroom aides and tutors, or tutor coordinators may decide to facilitate discussion before and after tutors watch the modules in a group setting. This way, volunteers have the opportunity to talk about what they have learned and discuss how it applies to their work with students. Also, the tutor coordinator may better understand what additional support he/she needs to provide to the tutor and classroom aides to support implementation.

Additionally, agencies may supplement the modules with agency-specific training and information as appropriate. However, the online tutor training modules will be the basis of volunteer training.

THE ONLINE TUTOR TRAINING MODULES

These online tutor training modules cover the skills that volunteer tutors will need when working in adult education programs. These modules are organized in the recommended sequence. However, tutors are encouraged to consult with their tutor coordinators to discuss which modules they will take, and in which order, to create a more personalized training experience based on their individual needs.

▶ Module 1: Tutoring Routines ***

This module will introduce the teaching strategy of using routines during tutoring. Participants will learn the components of a tutoring routine, how it can benefit both learners and tutors, and how to use a routine during a tutoring session. Tutors can follow-up with the tutor coordinator at the agency for further support regarding this topic.

▶ Module 2: Teaching Adults ***

In this module, instructors will learn to identify the characteristics of adult learners and how to plan instructional activities based on student needs and goals. It will include some teaching techniques that help adult learners and ways to assess student progress toward their goals.

 Modules 1 & 2 cover foundational skills that the subsequent modules build on.*

▶ Module 3: Teaching Adult Basic Education (ABE)

This module will provide tutors with an introduction to teaching activities for adult basic education (ABE) students. Tutors will be introduced to the College and Career Readiness Standards and explore how they can incorporate these into language arts and math teaching activities.

▶ Module 4: Teaching English as a Second Language (ESL)

In this module, instructors will learn to identify an English language learner's communication needs and learn how to use two instructional techniques to build language skills.

▶ Module 5: Lesson Planning

In this module, tutors will learn how to plan lesson activities they can use with their learners and how they can assess how well the learner has mastered new skills.

▶ Module 6: Using Textbooks and Authentic Materials

In this module, instructors will learn to use textbooks, adapt textbook lessons to their adult students' needs and levels, and supplement textbooks with authentic materials that support their students' interests and goals.

▶ Module 7: Preparing Students for the High School Equivalency Exams

This module will provide tutors with an overview of the high school equivalency exams used in Pennsylvania. Tutors will learn teaching strategies and important test-taking strategies to support student success.

▶ Module 8: Teaching Strategies

This module will summarize a range of teaching strategies presented in the previous modules and discuss reasons why they work. It will also present strategies for addressing student learning differences and suggestions to instructors about how to teach something they aren't sure they know well themselves.
